INTRODUCTION

Welcome to the user guide for the Latino American Experience database from ABC-CLIO. Taking a few minutes to tour the database using this simple guide will help you to get the most this database has to offer. Latino American Experience is an innovative resource and instructional tool, containing an abundance of authoritative and comprehensive content, along with customizing capabilities.

For more information on the Latino American Experience database or this user guide, contact us by phone at 1-800-368-6868 Monday through Friday, 7:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. PST, or by e-mail at service@abc-clio.com.

LOG IN

NOW AVAILABLE - Enhanced Advanced Search options!
Enjoy more precise, targeted search results through refined advanced search options!

USERNAME:

PASSWORD:

LOG IN

- Forgot your username or password? Contact customer support.
- PUBLIC LIBRARY Barcode Login - Click here to log in using the barcode number on the back of your library card, if your public library is a subscriber.

Accounts are given TWO types of usernames and passwords (or access codes):

Staff access code

This username and password combination allows access to additional staff features—Research Lists and Account Information (see Staff Edition Tools).

Student access code

This username and password combination allows students to access the database from school or home.

Student Access

Here are the directions students/public users should follow to access the nonstaff version of the database.

1. Open a browser and go to <http://lae2.abc-clio.com>.
2. On the Latino American Experience log-in screen, enter the username and password assigned to your class or nonstaff users.
3. Click the Log In button.

Staff Access

This access code brings up the Staff Edition of the database, which provides administrators and/or staff with access to customizable tools. Staff users may log in following the steps under Student Access above using the staff username and password, or they may log in through the Staff log-in page following the steps below.

1. Follow the steps under Student Access above, but direct the browser to <http://databases.abc-clio.com>.
2. From the Search all Databases page, click on the Latino American Experience icon that displays on the right side of the page.
3. Click on the Staff Edition link at the upper right of the database's home page.
4. On the staff log-in screen, enter the staff username and password you received from ABC-CLIO or your school's database administrator.
5. Click the Staff Log In button.

Access for IP Address Users

If your database has been set up through an IP address, which does not require a username and password, open a browser and go to <http://lae2.abc-clio.com> to gain access to the database.

Creating a Shortcut Link

To set up a shortcut link that will bypass the log-in screen:

1. Right-click on your desktop.
2. Select New.
3. Click Shortcut.
4. Type in <http://lae2.abc-clio.com/login.aspx?ipaddress=true>.
5. Click Next and type in a name for the shortcut.
6. Once you have named the shortcut, click Finish.

An icon for the shortcut will now appear on your desktop. Click the icon to automatically open the Latino American Experience home page.

Custom ABC-CLIO Link

To create a custom-designed ABC-CLIO Latino American Experience link, click on the User Guide link in the help menu. Select Log-In Process and use the link under the instructions for Creating a Shortcut Link.

Multiple ABC-CLIO Subscriptions

Users who subscribe to multiple ABC-CLIO databases can use a universal log-in screen to access their databases.

1. Open a browser and go to <http://databases.abc-clio.com>.
2. On the databases log-in screen, enter the username and password you received from ABC-CLIO or your school's database administrator.

If you are accessing through an IP address, you will not require a username and password. Simply direct the browser to <http://databases.abc-clio.com>.

Logging Out

Always remember to log out. To do so, click on Log Out. The initial database log-in screen will appear with the verification that you have logged out of this session displayed at the top. To regain access, you will need to log in again. Logging out is especially important for staff access users since anyone can access customizable tools from within a Staff Edition.

HOME

When first logging in from the log-in screen, you are brought to the Home page. To navigate back to the home page from anywhere in the database, click on the ABC-CLIO icon in the main navigation bar at the top of any page. Below is a brief description of the various sections of the database that can be reached from the home page.

TOPIC CENTER: THE MAYA EMPIRE, 250-1527

Listen Translate bing

Click to Enlarge

The Maya Empire was a Mesoamerican civilization that stretched from the southern parts of modern-day Mexico to the northern areas of Central America, incorporating the countries of Belize, Guatemala, and western portions of Honduras and El Salvador. The Maya civilization was sophisticated, exhibiting significant advances in architecture, art, math, astronomy, science, and writing. However, the empire's sudden and unexplained deterioration continues to stump scholars. What caused the Maya's once burgeoning cities to become abandoned ruins? Despite the decline of the empire, the Maya people continue to inhabit the areas of their ancestors and have had a profound effect on modern-day Mexico and Central America.

The Rise of the Maya

Although permanent settlement in Maya territory dates back to 2000 BCE, the Maya Empire's main period of prosperity extended from about 250-900 CE, known as the Classic Period. Advances in agriculture enabled the Maya population to grow, leading to the formation of many independent communities, which would form the Maya Empire. But where did the Maya come from? Not much is known about the Maya's origins, but some researchers suggest that many aspects of Maya society come from the Olmec civilization. Through cultural exchange, the Maya refined and improved upon these influences to create an advanced civilization of their own. Their participation in trade was also fundamental to their development as an empire, as ideas and goods were exchanged amongst various Maya communities and with other societies.

The Maya Empire took shape as various city-states that functioned independently, but were linked by trade. However, in different time periods, these city-states would unify to form a loose empire. During the Classic Period, power became centered in several influential cities, such as Chichén Itzá, which also flourished as trade hubs. The Maya demonstrated sophisticated architecture, and displayed an advanced understanding of math and astronomy, creating an intricate calendar system that was intertwined with their religious beliefs. They also boasted a hieroglyphic writing system, through which they chronicled political history, including a number of civil wars.

Topic Center Overview

The Overview serves as an introduction to the chosen Topic, establishing key terms, concepts, and themes. The purpose of the Overview is to provide a "big picture" perspective of a particular topic. This broad essay sets the stage for students to be able to understand the topic in greater detail through reference entries and other resources available in the Topic Center. Links within the Overview text itself connect relevant terms to additional information.

Browse Time Period

When users land on a Topic Center page, the text link for the selected topic will appear in orange. Click on the Change Time Period link to go to another Time Period.

COURSE COMPANION

The Course Companion section houses the core instruction on a topic. Click on the arrows to access an Overview essay.

JOURNAL ARTICLES

Journal Articles comprise peer-reviewed essays on long-standing and vitally important questions on the subject matter of each course. This section is driven by three goals: (1) to provide informative, thesis-driven, and peer-reviewed essays from multiple perspectives on topics that are mainstays of community college and undergraduate paper assignments; (2) to expose students to 21st-century skills by presenting a spectrum of ideas, displaying the complexity of the issues and enabling students to apply information literacy skills to evaluate the merits of the arguments; and (3) to model effective essay writing.

REFERENCE LIBRARY

The Reference Library contains the numerous reference items students need to better understand the topic. All of the material in this section has been carefully curated by scholars and subject experts and includes links to information essential to each Topic. Research consists of the following sections:

General Resources

Links in the General Resources section are organized into the following categories: Reference Articles, Biographies, Facts & Figures, and Glossary Terms. The carefully selected links provide supporting information germane to the Topic.

Media

Here you will find links to Photos & Illustrations, Maps, Flags, Video, Audio, and other media. These links add additional visual and aural components to the Topic.

Documents

Documents include links to primary source documents in the Latino American Experience database that will help broaden the user's understanding of the topic.

Library

Click on the link to Additional Resources to access the vast library of reference entries related to the specific Topic Center that you are at.

CLIOVIEW

The CLIOview feature allows for easy comparison of state information. Users may select one or more states to compare using up to three categories of statistical and political data for Latino Americans, including population, voter turnout, and median household income, among many others.

1. Click on the CLIOview link under the Reference Library section.
2. Select states from the States list on the left by clicking on one or more state names. (Use the Shift key to select an alphabetical block of states, or the Control key [Command for Macintosh users] to select numerous states not in an alphabetical block.) Add to the Selected States list on the right by clicking on Add. Similarly, states may be removed from the list on the left by clicking on the state name and clicking on Remove. Add All and Remove All will add or remove all items from a list, regardless of selections made. Click Submit when all desired selections have been made.
3. Selected states will display in an alphabetical list. From the drop-down menus above this list, choose up to three categories of statistical and political data to use for comparison. Click Submit.
4. States and their specific statistical and political data will appear in an alphabetical list. This list can be sorted by any of the data categories selected.
5. To change the data categories, select another category from one of the drop-down menus and click Submit.

TOOLS

Solutions databases employ various tools to help students navigate through and make the best use of our content:

Save

Clicking on the Save icon on the top, right-hand portion of your screen allows users to save a PDF file to the Cloud using one of two options: Google Drive or Dropbox. Users must have an account to these services in order to save files to them. Certain browsers may not support this functionality; if this is the case, the save button will be grayed out.

Email

Print

The print icon is located next to the Email icon and allows users to print the main window of each page.

Cite

The Cite icon shows users the three most common forms of citation for the article being referenced: MLA, Chicago, and APA. Users are also able to export the entry to either EasyBib or RefWorks citation creators.

ReadSpeaker (Listen)

ReadSpeaker allows text in the database to be read out loud. For more information about this function, see the ReadSpeaker/Translation tool tab in the Help menu.

Translate

Clicking on the Translate button will translate the text on the page to one of 10 languages. Users can also click on a language with the ReadSpeaker function to have it read back in that language.

SEARCH

Advanced Search

Whether you are beginning a significant research project or verifying a few facts, the Advanced Search function, located in the top, right-hand portion of every page, is a good place to start. By choosing one or a combination of criteria, then clicking the SEARCH button, users will have instant access to targeted results taken from thousands of resources. To search by text, enter a word or phrase into the Site Search field and click the SEARCH button. To narrow the search, select a specific category or categories from either the Reference Library or the Topic Center or both.

Shortcuts & Logos

This page provides directions to add a shortcut to ABC-CLIO's databases onto a desktop or to add hyperlinked logos for ABC-CLIO's Social Studies Databases onto a web page.

STAFF EDITION TOOLS

The following Tools are available on the Staff Edition only (with staff access code).

Research Lists

Staff users have the option to add any reference item to a research list. Research lists may be posted for students to view, or saved for later. They may also be edited or deleted at any time.

Creating a List

1. From within any entry in the database, click Add to Research List. This will take you to the Research Lists Tool page.
2. From this screen, you will have the option of adding the entry to a new research list or to an existing research list. Click Add to a New Research List to begin a new list.

You will see the item in a list along with step-by-step instructions for compiling the list, adding comments, naming the list, adding you name, and finalizing the list. Click Continue Research at the top of the screen to add more items to this list.

You can change the order of the items or delete an item by editing the number selected for the item or checking Delete.

Any Comments you make will be visible to all users on the account, and instructions related specifically to that list can be given to students.

The Name you select for the research list should be as descriptive as possible as it will become the link that students use to access the list. The name can include class periods, subject matter, etc.

Your Name will appear next to the list for all users. Users will also be able to sort by this feature for quick access to all the lists that a particular person has created. To sort by last name, be sure to enter your name with last name first (i.e., Jones, Ms. Brenda).

You will have the option to Delete List, Save for Later, or Save and Post. Clicking Delete List will permanently delete the list from the database.

Click Save for Later to keep a record of this list for yourself only. You will be asked for a password so only you will be able to access this list for editing at a later date. Type in a password, verify the same password, and click Save for Later.

If you would like to post the list right away, click Save and Post to post this list for all users on your account. Choose an end date. (The research list will remain visible on the student access version of the database until the date chosen, at which point it will automatically be unposted. The list will remain available on the staff access version for editing.) Enter a password and verify the password. This password allows only you to edit this research list. Click Save and Post to post this list to the student access version of the database.

Once posted, the research list will appear to all student access users on your account under the Research Lists tab in the main navigation bar.

Editing an Existing List

1. Click on Research Lists on the left side of the Tools page.
2. A list of all research lists created on your account will display. To edit a research list that you have created, click the Edit button next to that list.
3. Enter the password you selected when creating the research list and click Submit.

You will then be able to edit according to the steps under Creating a List, above.

Account Information

Displays all database information specific to an account, including name of database, name of database administrator, expiration date, staff access code, student access code, and ABC-CLIO customer service information.

Update Preferences

This feature allows the user to change the following interface options, if desired: primary citation format (either APA, Chicago, or MLA); and the number of search results that will appear on the page (10, 20, 50, or 100).
